New display will honor local Purple Heart recipients

By Jonah Snowden
jsnowden@turley.com

PALMER — This year, Memorial Day will be more colorful and perhaps radiate more gravitas.

Light Up Palmer and Veteran's Agent Troy Brin have come together to put together a new Purple Heart Recognition Program.

Beginning Memorial Day, May 31, Light Up Palmer plans to display banners along Main Street in the Depot Village area through Veteran's Day, Nov. 11. Chairperson of Light Up Palmer, Christine Smith, said the committee reached out to her with the idea and that it's a team effort with members such as Donna Mead, who designed the Purple Heart recognition banner deserving a share of the credit.

"We truly act as a team with each person bringing a different talent to the table," Smith said.

"My talent happens to be reaching out to people with our ideas and helping fund them. Additionally, I would like to mention the employees and patrons of Tailgate Tavern, since they are the individuals who helped put together an idea and funded a significant portion of this program on our behalf."

Brin, who will contact and speak with local Purple Heart recipients and ask if they would like to be recognized, said he appreciates the organizers' drive and creativity.

"The passion of Light Up Palmer's team and Christine Smith

With barely enough for a team, Pathfinder shows Pioneer spirit

By Jonah Snowden
jsnowden@turley.com

PALMER — Sports is supposed to build character and the Pathfinder Regional Vocational Technical School football team showed it has plenty of it.

The Pioneers demonstrated their willingness to persevere through any obstacles, regardless of the outcome, during a recent game against Northampton High School's Blue Devils. The team went into the March 28 game with only 13 eligible players and despite the disadvantage, came to play. The game was called at half-time with Pathfinder on the long end of a 35-0 score. Coach Joseph Baldyga said despite the effort, he had to consider the team's health and safety and decided it was best to call it a day and regroup for the next game.

Baldyga, who also is Pathfinder Director of Athletics, said the reason for the short-handed roster last week was a combination of some players losing academic eligibility because of low grades, several who left the team to take after-school jobs, and a few students being forced into quarantine because of COVID-19.

Baldyga said he is still proud of his players, especially the core group that barely made up enough to actually take the field.

"They've been super committed and pretty much 15 of them have only missed maybe one or two practices," Baldyga said.

"They've been really great at showing up and putting in the work. We're really coaching them up hard and we're trying to get better as a program and I got to give the kids a ton of credit for their commitment."

Even after having to concede a game with a half to play, Baldyga said he is optimistic for the team's future.

"I think this particular group are just really passionate about the sport of football," Baldyga said.

"They want to get learn and get better and have given such tremendous effort and have great attitudes. My coaching staff are super excited every day for practice. We had some good routines we go through, trying to improve our skills and I think the kids enjoy being back to normal. When you are out on the field, even though we are wearing a mask, it's their two hours of the day they're doing something they love."

Grab your gloves and come help save the river next week

THREE RIVERS — The 50th anniversary of Earth Day may have been overshadowed by the global pandemic, but that doesn't mean its legacy won't continue.

In this area, the Palmer Conservation Commission is looking forward to a robust turnout of volunteers for its first river cleanup since 2019. The 2020 event was canceled as the COVID-19 pandemic, then in its early months, led to municipal lockdowns and quarantines as officials hoped to stop the spread.

This year's event will be held Saturday, April 17 — less than a week before the 51st Earth Day.

Town Administrator candidates interviewed in public next week

MONSON — Final candidates for the open town manager position will be interviewed by the Monson Select Board during its next meeting.

The BOS will be conducting interviews at meeting 7 p.m. Tuesday, April 13.

The interviews will be streamed live. A link is available on the town's website.

Jennifer Wolowicz became interim town administrator in Monson after now-former administrator Evan Brassard resigned to take the same position with the town of Grafton. Wolowicz said she was applying for the permanent spot.

Neither a list of candidates nor the meeting agenda was available at press time. The town expected to post the meeting agenda by Friday.

A consultant, Community Paradigm Associates, was contracted to handle the search for candidates and stopped taking resumes March 15.

To view the agenda when it's posted and to get the link for the meeting's live stream, go to monson-ma.gov.

Brimfield Police on the lookout for distracted drivers

By Jonah Snowden
jsnowden@turley.com

BRIMFIELD — The Brimfield Police Department is using a Municipal Road Safety Grant, awarded through the Executive Office of Public Safety and Security, to purchase equipment and enforce the Mass. cell phone law enacted just over a year ago.

The town's police officers in marked and unmarked vehicles or standing at intersections will be out monitoring drivers to ensure they keep their cell phones down. The penalty for violating the hands-free law is a $100 fine for the first offense, a $250 fine for the second offense, and a $500 for the third and subsequent offenses.

Brimfield Police Lt. William Beaudry said this campaign began on April 2 and will go through April 18 to help convince residents to not text while driving or do any other type of distracted driving. Beaudry said drivers can make hands-free calls or texts to ensure their safety as well as the safety of fellow drivers and pedestrians.

"We're not saying that you have to lose communication with the world," Beaudry said.

"It's more important to be cautious of the road and waiting those two minutes to stop, before making those calls."

For more information on the department's campaign, visit the Brimfield Police Department's Facebook page.

Summerfest events canceled due to pandemic

MONSON — The annual Monson Summerfest will not stage its June Fireworks or Independence Day activities, the committee said this week.

The Monson Summerfest Committee voted to suspend the June fireworks and Fourth of July activities for this year after consulting local health agencies. The committee decided it is not in the best interest of the town to hold its annual celebration while cases of COVID-19 remain high in the area — Monson has been in the "Red" or high-risk category for several weeks — and some state-mandated restrictions remain in place.

"The committee has always prided itself in providing our community and visitors with a safe, friendly, and family oriented day in keeping with the traditional Fourth of July celebration," Committee Chairman Steve Slozak said.

"The current health concerns posed by the COVID-19 pandemic and its implications for the well-being of all people has posed a very real threat to that goal."

Not that it was an easy decision to make, he said.

"It was a disappointing decision, but one that the committee felt necessary," Slozak said.

"We are not willing to put any of our citizens or visitors in harm's way."

The committee will continue to look ahead and hopes to renew the traditional celebration next year, Slozak said.

Green Day event collects old electronics, helps local church

By Jonah Snowden
jsnowden@turley.com

PALMER – Let the spring cleaning– with a nod to the environment – begin.

Over the weekend, Green Day Recycling came to Palmer to give residents the opportunity to get rid of their unwanted recyclable electronics at St. Thomas Church. While residents had to pay a fee able to have Green Day collect their old computers, microwaves, TVs and more, the company also accepted cell phones, bicycles in any condition, wires and batteries at no charge.

Green Day Recycling “had a really good turnout in Palmer,” Operations Manager Brian Wood said. “It was busier than it had been in previous years. We filled two containers at the event, which is definitely above average.”

Dumping electronics with other household trash is an environmental hazard because of the toxic materials they contain. Old computers and other electronics that are not properly disposed of and recycled means those materials likely find their way into ground soil and waterways, essentially poisoning the environment.

Brian Wood

“Usually, Christmas comes around and people upgrade their electronics and nowadays electronics aren’t typically lasting as long as they have in the past,” Wood said. “It’s great for our planet, in terms of not wasting those materials. They can be melted down, repurposed and used for other items, whether it’s for car parts, other electronics or really anything.”

Typically, Green Day Recycling collaborates annually with local churches, such as the First Church event. This initiative began at Wood’s local church, Saint Mark Parish in Sutton.

“We have a great relationship with many different organizations all over the state,” Wood said.

“We have been doing this for 12 years now. It started with our local church and it just went from there. We’re not new at this, we’ve been doing this for a really long time. We give the churches a part of the proceeds for letting us use the parking lot. It’s not only providing something great for the community to recycle items people may not otherwise know how to get rid of, but there’s a financial benefit the churches are getting.”

Wood also said they make sure the parking lot is “sparkling clear” before leaving the site.

“The whole process is very simple,” Wood said.

“Often, the churches we work with want us to come back year after a year, certainly during this pandemic. Attendance is lower than it has been previously. A little bit of extra money can really go a long way.”

To contact Wood for more information on setting up an electronics recycling event, send an email to GreeDayRecyclingMA@gmail.com or visit their Facebook page.

Smola announces grants for local fire departments

BOSTON – State Rep. Todd M. Smola (R-Warren, Ranking Member, Committee on Ways & Means) is pleased to announce that the Sturbridge, Brimfield, Palmer, Wales and Ware Fire Departments have been awarded funding for additional equipment.

As part of the F21 Fire-fighter Safety Equipment Grant Program, Ware will receive $12,500, Sturbridge will receive $12,500; Brimfield will receive $10,000, Wales will receive $8,423 and Palmer will receive $12,449.

“The first responders in our community face every imaginable type of danger,” said Representative Smola. “These grants will help them be better protected and demonstrates how grateful we are for their dedicated service.”

This competitive grant program enables fire departments to purchase a variety of equipment that will make firefighters’ jobs safer, including protective firefighting gear, thermal imaging cameras, radios, rescue equipment, and gear washers and dryers. The funding is part of a $25 million bond bill to support firefighter health and safety over the next five years.

Fire departments in Massachusetts were able to apply to this program for 114 different types of eligible equipment, including personal protective clothing, gear washers and dryers, thermal imaging cameras, assorted hand tools and extrication equipment, communications resources, hazardous gas meters, fitness equipment, and more.

Firefighters face not only the well-known risks of fire, smoke, and hazardous materials, but also long-term health risks of occupational cancer associated with the exposure to fire by-products, and debilitating physical injuries due to the strenuous nature of their work. For additional information please contact Smola at Todd.Smola@mahouse.gov or 617-722-2100.

Winning isn't everything - or so easily quantified

It's difficult to imagine what the odds must be against a high school football team with just 13 players beating any team with a full roster, even with other variables factored in. Probably one in some number with a lot of zeros.

With that improbable chance looming, Pathfinder Regional Vocational Technical School played its first game of an abbreviated and bizarre season against Northampton last week. With just enough players to get the requisite number on the field and two to spare, those odds became even longer after the Pi-ners were down 35-0 at halftime. Demonstrating that discretion is the better part of valor, coach Joseph Baldyga wisely conceded the rest of the game. Having essentially the whole team playing every snap against an opponent that can rotate in fresh players and the lopsided score is a recipe for injury and as game as his team is, Baldyga said he always considers their health and safety first and foremost.

Only the players and their coaches can truly know what it felt like to try to get ready for that game. You can't possibly practice properly with so few players. So few that they couldn't even hold seven-on-seven drills with the players who would huddle up when the whistle blows.

Maybe in a normal year Pathfinder would have forfeited. But after a frustrating and unpredictable year in which a football season in any form was in doubt, this team – just like their peers across the region and around the state – simply wanted a chance to compete. Practice is the cost of getting to play the game and all competitive athletes just want the opportunity to try.

Life can't be measured by a number, but in sports the bottom line is the bottom line. Score more than your opponent and you win. Where sports and life intersect, success can't always be so easily quantified.

One thing is certain. The willingness of Baldyga, his staff and their players to put it on the line when they had no realistic chance of winning makes them champions in our eyes.

BUSINESS

Turley Publications is liberal with regard to its business coverage policies, but we do have some standards folks need to understand. First, local businesses and merchants are just as much institutions in our towns as the library and schools. Without them, there are no towns.

We will feature coverage of local businesses that are new, have a major expansion, moving, closing, under new management or ownership, celebrating a milestone anniversary, or have been thrust into the news realm. Merchants can request that coverage through the editor, or for our existing advertising clients, through their ad representatives.

The best way to root stem cuttings

Neil, who reads the column in the Wilbraham Times, asked the Garden Lady to write about taking stem cuttings. He enjoyed my commentary on houseplants from a few weeks back and seemed interested in trying his hand at propagating some of his own plants by this method. Here you go, Neil! I wish you loads of success.

Getting a piece of stem to form roots is relatively easy. Here are a few tips that will guarantee your success. First, make sure that the plant you are taking the cuttings from, called the “stock plant,” is insect and disease-free and well hydrated. Plan to take cuttings in the morning before the heat of the day has a chance to cause any wilting. A clean, sharp pair of scissors or hand pruners is the best tool for the job. Cuttings can be taken at any time during the growing season. Spring is a great time to take cuttings of plants that you’ve overwintered provided they are growing well. Just this past week I took cuttings of both scented geraniums and rosemary.

IN THE GARDEN

Roberta McQuaid

Begin by examining your stock plant. Those stems with the closest placed nodes are the best choice for cutting material. Nodes are the point on the stem from which the leaves grow. There is a strong accumulation of hormones in this area; for that reason stem cuttings are taken just after a node. Terminal cuttings, (those from the growth tip) three to four inches long are desirable. It is tempting to take longer pieces, figuring that the end result will be a larger plant. These are likely to wilt before they root or take a very long time to root because the stems are woodier the further down you go. Play it safe with stout cuttings.

There are all kinds of potting mediums in which to place the cutting while it grows roots. Ideally it should be able to hold enough moisture to keep the cutting turgid yet not hold so much that it rots the stem. Sand, perlite, and soilless potting mixes have all been used with success. Water is not recommended as “watery roots” will have a harder time adapting to potting soil later on. I have had good luck rooting cuttings in peat-based potting mixes that are formulated for seed starting. Moisten the material well and fill your clean container of choice up to the top and tamp it down.

Cut only a few cuttings at a time so that wilting doesn't occur while you prepare the stems for insertion into the growing medium. Strip off the bottom one-third of leaves from the cutting. If you wish to shorten the amount of time it takes for rooting to occur, a commercial rooting hormone can be used. These come in powder or liquid forms. Follow the directions on the container. I have found that “less is more” when using these products. When you are ready to “stick” the cutting make an indentation into the growing medium with a pencil or dibble first; do not push in with the stem! After the cutting is inserted, firm the medium around it well so that it stays in place. Put the container, cuttings and all in a clear plastic bag and place in a shady location. The humidity within the bag ought to prevent the stems from wilting. Water well, only about once weekly. After a month or so, roots will begin to form on the scented geraniums; rosemary may take six weeks or more.

Transplanting into individual pots can be done once the roots equal or surpass the size of the cutting. I like to start out with a small pot and transplant up a size or two at a time as the plant grows; likewise, using newly-rooted cuttings together in a mixed planter works well, too.

Roberta McQuaid graduated from the Stockbridge School of Agriculture at the University of Massachusetts. For the last 28 years, she has held the position of staff horticulturalist at Old Sturbridge Village. She enjoys growing food as well as flowers. Have a question for her? HISTORY MATTERS

Conservation Corps, Space age and animal cruelty

History Matters is a bi-weekly feature courtesy of The Grateful American Book Prize, which is given to children's books that emphasize the importance of American history.

April 1 to April 15
By John Grimaldi and David Bruce Smith

Intrinsically, Franklin Delano Roosevelt was a conservationist, who once said, “the forests are the lungs of our land [which] purify our air and give fresh strength to our people.”

On April 5, 1933, a year after he was elected President, FDR formed the Civilian Conservation Corps [CCC]; he believed it would put thousands of citizens back to work during “the Great Depression” and ensure the health of America’s woodlands.

Those who enlisted in “Roosevelt’s Tree Army” got $30 per month, approximately $600 in 2021 currency, and access to vocational education to facilitate their re-entry into the job market. Enlistment was intended to be only six months, but many of the recruits stayed longer.

According to History.com,

“CCC employees fought forest fires, planted trees, cleared and maintained access roads, re-seeded grazing lands and implemented soil-erosion controls. They built wildlife refuges, fish-rearing facilities, water storage basins and animal shelters. To encourage citizens to get out and enjoy America’s natural resources, FDR authorized the CCC to build bridges and campground facilities. From 1933 to 1942, the CCC employed over 3 million men.”

The Grateful American Book Prize recommends “Hitch” by Jeanette Ingold.

Space age

America’s space age began April 9, 1959, when seven test pilots with “The Right Stuff” were formally presented to the nation as its inaugural astronauts. The “Mercury Project”, as they were known, was composed of Scott Carpenter, L. Gordon Cooper Jr., John H. Glenn Jr., Virgil “Gus” Grissom, Walter Schirra Jr., Alan Shepard Jr. and Donald Slayton.

Their goal was to launch a sequence of successfully manned missions to space.

Two years earlier, the Soviet Union had astonished the world, when it put the first artificial satellite, Sputnik, into orbit, but America, resolved to eclipse them, was stunned a second time, when their cosmonaut, Yuri Gagarin, piloted the planet’s first manned space flight in April 1961, less than a month before Mercury astronaut Alan Shepard, went up in his spacecraft, the Freedom 7.

By then, the hustle for celestial superiority was ramped up with a zing, but the U.S. continued to lag—until 1969, when NASA’s Apollo astronauts Neil Armstrong, Buzz Aldrin and Michael Collins took “one giant leap for mankind”—and landed on the moon.

For more information, the Grateful American Book Prize recommends “Project Mercury: America in Space Series” by Eugen Reichl.

Preventing animal cruelty

Henry Bergh was a wealthy man who learned a great lesson when he was given a diplomatic post at the U.S. Embassy in Russia by President Abraham Lincoln. As one account put it, “While in St. Petersburg he is reputed to have seen a droshkie or Russian peasant beating his fallen cart horse. Bergh dismounted from his own carriage and intervened, saving the horse from a further beating that day. Upon his return to America in 1865, he stopped in England and met with the president of the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Once back in New York, Bergh quickly took action to affect the formation of a similar society in the United States.”

On April 10, 1866, he founded American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals; it became a model for the New York Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

His passion and his accounts of the cruelties suffered by animals enabled him to convince the New York State Legislature to give him a charter to organize the first ASPCA, and to enact the first anti-cruelty law in the United States.

The ASPCA also got the power to investigate complaints of animal cruelty, and to make arrests. History.com notes that “As the pioneer and innovator of the humane movement, the ASPCA quickly became the model for more than 25 other humane organizations in the United States and Canada.”

By the time Bergh died in 1888, 37 of the 38 states in the Union [at that time] had passed anti-cruelty laws.”

The Grateful American Book Prize recommends “A Traitor to His Species: Henry Bergh and the Birth of the Animal Rights Movement,” 1st Edition, by Ernest Freeberg,

SOCIAL SECURITY MATTERS

Will my widow's benefit replace my own benefits?

By Russell Gloor
Guest columnist

Dear Rusty: My husband is 76, retired for four years, and receiving Social Security. I am only 59 and still working. We are both in good health and I'd like to think we still have many years to enjoy retirement.

My question: Is it true that if I start Social Security at 62, I can switch to my husband's Social Security benefits when he passes? If this is true (and his amount is slightly higher than my FRA amount), wouldn't it make sense for me to begin collecting at 62? Signed: Younger Spouse

Dear Younger Spouse: Yes, it is true that if you start your reduced personal Social Security benefit at age 62, and your husband (collecting a benefit higher than your own) predeceases you, you can switch to his higher benefit amount. But there are some other factors which come into play when dealing with survivor benefits, especially with an age difference:

- You must be at least 60 years old to claim your survivor benefit (or 50 if you are disabled).
- Your survivor benefit will be reduced if you haven't yet reached your own full retirement age (FRA) when you claim it. The reduction is 4.75% for each full year earlier than your FRA that you claim the survivor benefit.
- You do not need to take your survivor benefit immediately upon your husband's death. Your survivor benefit as your husband's widow reaches maximum at your FRA, and you can choose to delay claiming your widow's benefit until you reach your FRA (to get the maximum amount).
- If you claim any Social Security benefit before your FRA (your own or your survivor benefit), and you are working, you'll be subject to Social Security's “earnings test” which limits how much you can earn before SS takes back some of your benefits.

Considering the above, if your eventual benefit as your husband's widow will be the highest benefit you will be entitled to, then claiming your personal Social Security benefit at age 62 may be a prudent strategy. It allows you to collect your own benefit earlier (albeit reduced) until your higher survivor benefit kicks in to replace the smaller amount.

However, your plans for working prior to your full retirement age are key to deciding if you should claim benefits earlier. If you exceed the earnings limit ($18,960 for 2021), Social Security will take away some of your benefits, which could mean you go without benefits until they recover what you owe. Indeed, if your earnings are high enough, you may find that you would get no Social Security benefits because the amount you owe for exceeding the earnings limit would completely offset your Social Security benefit.

So, as you can see, if you are working with a high income, the earnings limit might imply that waiting until your FRA to claim any Social Security benefit is the smartest move. But if you don't work after you claim Social Security, then taking your own benefit early and later switching to your higher widow's benefit at or after your FRA would be a sound choice.

Stacey Perlmutter, director of development for Springfield Shriners Hospital for Children, visited Dan Moriarty, Monson Savings Bank president and CEO at the bank's new East Longmeadow branch location to accept Monson Savings Bank's $2,000 donation.

Monson Savings Bank donates $2,000 to Shriners Hospital for Children

MONSON – Monson Savings Bank is committed to helping all members of the local communities, but this is especially true when it comes to supporting youth community members who need extra care. That's why Monson Savings Bank President and CEO Dan Moriarty recently presented a $2,000 donation to Stacey Perlmutter, director of development for Springfield Shriners Hospital for Children, a local hospital providing specialty care exclusively for children.

The donation was made as a part of the 2021 Monson Savings Bank Community Giving Initiative, where the public could submit their votes to support their favorite local charitable organizations. "Monson Savings Bank is incredibly happy to donate to the Springfield Shriners Hospital for Children in an effort to support patient care, research and education that directly benefits the children of our local friends and neighbors," said Moriarty, president and CEO. "It is so important that parents and guardians have a nearby hospital to turn to when their child needs specialty care. And the way that Shriners makes their care available in one location, and regardless of their ability to pay, removes a great deal of the stress that can accompany an illness or injury of a child. We are very lucky to have this hospital in our area and Monson Savings Bank is proud to support the excellent care provided every day."

Springfield Shriners Hospital for Children is unique in its ability to provide exceptional, specialized pediatric orthopedic, urology and cleft lip and palate care, using the latest innovations in diagnosis and treatment, with expanded services including fracture care and sports health and medicine. Under one roof, they provide a full range of inpatient and outpatient services, allowing a child's care to take place in one building, with multiple appointments being taken care of on one day. Springfield Shriners Hospital for Children focuses on cost-efficient, high-quality care, working hard to balance the cost of care with services needed. Learn more or donate at: <https://www.shriners-hospitalsforchildren.org/shc>

"We are incredibly grateful to Monson Savings Bank for their continued support of the Springfield Shriners Hospital for Children," said Stacey Perlmutter, Director of Development. "Because of Monson Savings Bank's loyal generosity over the years, our patients are receiving the best quality care while transforming their lives. This community is so fortunate to have a local bank that is committed to supporting our communities and our hospital."

year. Hampden Board of Selectmen Chair Donald Davenport called Trombly "a true reflection of law enforcement" and said he has the education, experience and leadership skills for the job.

Trombly thanked town officials and community members for "the faith you've shown in me." He said he's proud to work with the Hampden department, where "training and commitment to service are second to none."

He also thanked his wife, Barbara, his mother, Joy, his son, Brian, and daughter, Lauren, who were standing by his side during the ceremony. "Officers can't truly be successful without the support of their family," he said in an emotional speech.

Trombly was raised in Palmer and got his first job in law enforcement with the Palmer Police Department as an auxiliary officer. He was one of three internal candidates considered by Hampden's selectmen for the role of police chief after Farnsworth announced his departure.

Hampden's Interim Police Chief Richard Marchese said Trombly is "a great man for the job."

Following several remarks from Davenport, Marchese and other local officials, Trombly was officially sworn in by Hampden Town Clerk Eva Wiseman. Trombly's son, Brian, pinned the new Chief's badge onto Trombly's uniform.

"I was very proud," Trombly's mother, Joy, said of watching her son being sworn in. "I teared up."

After the ceremony ended, Trombly told the Wilbraham-Hampden Times being sworn in to the new role was "exciting" and overwhelming.

"What an accomplishment," Trombly said of his career and promotion as head of the department.

This wasn't the first time selectmen appointed Trombly to the role of police chief. Selectman John Flynn said Trombly was appointed to the position 15 years ago, but Trombly reconsidered the appointment shortly after and Farnsworth was subsequently selected.

"Nothing in the past 15 years has changed my mind that he should be our chief," Flynn said. "I voted for him for chief twice."

Flynn and Davenport said they'd received "quite a bit of feedback" about Trombly, both in the community and within the department, commending him for his attitude and work ethic.

"Both people that serve under him and people he's worked for have said this is the right guy for the position," Flynn said. "I'd gotten calls from a couple of previous chiefs who said 'this is the guy you need to pick.' They felt he had what it took to do the job, and that's important."

Davenport said several individuals called and pointed out Trombly is "community-minded" and has also been involved with the town's senior center.

"It was important for our board to move quickly because we have a lot of major things happening," Flynn said of the appointment. "Obviously, the dispatch change affects the police department, and it was important for our board to take the reins quickly and move on."

Selectman Mary Ellen Glover also attended the ceremony last week.

"Light Up Palmer has found a creative and innovative way to honor these brave men and women for their service and sacrifice to this great nation and our way of life. It is a pleasure to collaborate and work with such passionate people. I would like to thank Light Up Palmer, Tailgate Tavern, Ms. Chris Smith and Ms. Donna Meade for their dedication, commitment, and work putting this project together which we all will enjoy for years to come."

So far, about, 40 veterans have come forward and been verified, according to Light Up Palmer's Facebook page. Anyone who is a veteran or knows of one who was awarded the Purple Heart is welcome to contact Brin at 413-283-2610 or email trbin@townofpalmer.com, prior to April 19.

which falls on April 22.

"The Palmer Conservation Commission has been hosting river clean ups on an annual or semi-annual basis since 2015," Sarah Fortune, conservation assistant for the Palmer Conservation Commission, said.

"This is the second Earth Day river clean-up since the first one, which occurred in 2018 and had approximately 50 volunteers. Our largest river clean up was the 2019 Source to Sea event which had approximately 114 volunteers."

This river sweep will be held in partnership with American Rivers, the Chicopee 4 Rivers Watershed Council, Keep Palmer Clean, and Country Bank. Fortune said being good stewards of the rivers is not just important for the present.

"The Palmer Conservation Commission is committed to keeping our four major rivers – Quaboag, Ware, Swift and Chicopee – clean so we can protect and restore them for us and future generations," she said. "Participating in a river cleanup is one way that citizens can do their part for the rivers we all love." Fortune said.

"Rivers connect us to each other, to nature, and to future generations," said Bob Irvin, President of American Rivers.

"It is wonderful to see so many people in Palmer and across the country taking action to protect and restore their rivers and clean water. We applaud the work of the Palmer Conservation Commission and the Chicopee 4 Rivers Watershed Council for the work they do on behalf of the river and the community."

The event begins at Laviolette

Field in Three Rivers at 8:30 a.m. rain to shine.

"We will be focusing on cleaning up the field and the nearby Quaboag River," Fortune said. "Volunteers are welcome to clean up other rivers or other areas in town, but folks should plan to come by Laviolette Field at 8:30 a.m. to sign in for the event and get trash bags, hand sanitizer, snacks, and gloves if needed."

What areas of the park and river volunteers police and how much trash and debris they remove is up to them, Fortune said.

"Volunteers are encouraged to work within their comfort zone," she said.

"For some folks, that means scaling river banks to get to trash, whereas others might feel more comfortable remaining on level ground. Volunteers are certainly welcome to bring kayaks to facilitate access to trash in remote areas or within the river itself."

Why it matters

According to Fortune, river clean-ups such as this are important for several reasons.

"And the most important of these reasons is to reduce pollution to our local waterways, which eventually drain to the Atlantic Ocean," she said.

"River clean-ups are also important to prepare recreational areas for the upcoming outdoor and recreation season. Clean-up events are additionally helpful in public education by helping folks to understand that everything is connected, and that trash littered today will eventually end up in the ocean."

Palmer has a special relationship

Local rivers are polluted and need stewardship to promote and maintain clean water and healthy aquatic ecosystems, a local official said.

with its waterways. The name "Three Rivers" was no coincidence.

"Rivers are an integral part of the Town of Palmer, and several rivers serve as the town's boundary with other municipalities," Fortune said.

"Three Rivers in particular is situated at the heart of the Chicopee Watershed, the largest watershed in the state, and is located at the confluence of the Ware, Swift and Quaboag Rivers which flow together to create the Chicopee River. Several of Palmer's rivers, the Quaboag and the Ware in particular, are heavily polluted and require stewardship in order to promote and maintain clean water and healthy aquatic ecosystems."

What to bring

Volunteers should wear appropriate clothing, including layers, sturdy shoes, and gloves. We're still in the midst of the pandemic, so all volunteers are required to wear a face mask while participating in the event. And have your smartphone handy because you never know what you'll find.

"The largest item removed from a previous river clean up was a mattress," Fortune said. "The strangest item removed from a previous event was boxer briefs – who forgets their underwear?!"

Want to sign up?

Everyone is invited to participate in the river clean-up. To sign up, contact Sarah Fortune at 413-626-7084 or sfortune@townofpalmer.com.

First-time homebuyer? Follow these steps

Is homeownership a goal of yours? It does offer some benefits, in addition to meeting your basic need for shelter. The equity you build in your home can be a valuable financial asset, and you may get to deduct your interest payments on your taxes. But if you're a first-time homebuyer, what steps should you take?

First, make sure the time is right for you in terms of your personal and financial situations. For example, are you fairly confident that your employment is stable and that your earnings won't decline? Of course, external events can also play a role in your decision. A recent study by Morning Consult and Edward Jones found that 12% of respondents postponed purchasing a house during the COVID-19 pandemic.

But if you're ready and eager for homeownership, consider the following moves:

Save for a down payment. The more money you put down for a home, the lower your monthly payments, although there's also a point at which overly large down payments can be financially unwise. However, if you can make a down payment of more than 20% of the purchase price, you can generally avoid having to pay for private mortgage insurance on top of your monthly payments. Also, as a first-time homebuyer, you might qualify for down payment assistance from your local or state housing authority or a nonprofit group.

Check your credit score. A higher credit score gives you a better chance for a lower interest rate. You can request a credit report from annualcreditreport.com, and you might be able to get a credit score for free from your bank. If you need to improve your score, you may want to delay your home purchase.

Learn how much you qualify for – and how much you should spend. Once you think you're ready to begin the home-purchasing process, you may want to contact a few lenders to determine the size of the mortgage for which you qualify. Be aware, though, that just because you can get a mortgage of a certain amount, does not necessarily mean that you should. You don't want to become "house poor" – that is, you don't want to spend so much on your house payments that you are cash strapped and can't afford to save for other goals, such as college for your children or a comfortable retirement. You may want to establish a budget for how much you can readily afford to pay for your mortgage each month – and try sticking to it before you buy the house. If you have extra savings, put it toward your down payment.

Prepare for unexpected costs. You can plan for your mortgage, utilities, taxes and insurance – but when you own a home, you'll always encounter unexpected costs. You may need to get a new furnace, repair your roof or face any number of other maintenance issues. To help prepare for these costs, try to build an emergency fund containing three to six months' worth of living expenses, with the money kept in a liquid, low-risk account. Without such a fund, you might be forced to dip into your long-term investments or take on added debt to pay for these unanticipated expenses.

Homeownership can be a rewarding experience – and the rewards will be even greater when you've "done the numbers" and prepared yourself financially.

LIFE AFTER COVID

Survey says even with vaccine, Mass. residents expect a long recovery

SPRINGFIELD — Even with vaccines against COVID-19 becoming accessible to a larger portion of the public, Massachusetts residents are cautious about returning to pre-pandemic activities, according to the latest survey from the Western New England University Polling Institute.

The telephone survey of 415 adults, conducted March 1-31, found that 44% were still very or somewhat worried about contracting COVID-19, down from 64% in the last Polling Institute survey conducted Oct. 22-Nov. 24, 2020. Fifty-four percent said they are not very worried or not at all worried, up from 32 percent in the fall survey.

The current level of worry did not vary significantly based on whether a respondent had received a vaccine to protect against COVID-19. Thirty-four percent of the sample reported having received at least one dose of a vaccine. Among the vaccinated group 45% were still very or somewhat worried about contracting the virus, while 52% said they were not very or not at all worried.

Among adults who said they had not yet received a vaccine, 44% were very or somewhat worried and 54 percent said they were not very or not at all worried. The survey, which has a margin of sampling error of plus or minus six percentage points, also found:

Sixty percent of adults said they strongly or somewhat support the return of elementary school students to public school classrooms five days a week, which is underway in many schools across the state this week. Twenty-nine percent of respondents said they strongly or somewhat oppose the idea.

A majority of residents gave the state and Governor Charlie Baker a grade of B or C for the rollout of the vaccination plan so far. Baker's overall job approval rating fell six points to 62% among all adults compared to the October-November survey, and the approval rating for the governor's handling of the state's response to the COVID-19 pandemic fell five points, to 62%.

Support remained high for cities and towns requiring masks in public places, with 85% backing the idea, 13% opposed, and two percent undecided. Ninety percent supported requiring masks in public places in the fall survey.

Among survey respondents who had yet to receive a vaccine, 68% said they would be very or somewhat likely to get the vaccine if it was available to them today, and 29% said they would be very or somewhat unlikely. Among all respondents to the fall 2020 survey, 59% said they would be very or somewhat likely to get the vaccine, while 38 percent said they would be very or somewhat unlikely.

Perceptions of the safety of engaging in public activities ranging from dining indoors in restaurants to working out in gyms with masks and social distancing shifted slightly in the direction of greater perceived safety, but about half of all adults still view those activities as unsafe.

Tim Vercellotti, director of the Polling Institute and a professor of political science at Western New England University, said the survey results depict a state that may be ready for life to return to some semblance of pre-pandemic activity, but that many adults are cautious about rushing too quickly to do so.

“More people are willing to get vaccinated, and there is some sense of diminished threat from COVID-19,” Vercellotti said.

“But people still remain worried about contracting the virus, and a significant number believe that the pandemic is far from over.”

When asked how long it would be before daily life could return to the way it was before the pandemic, 21% said “in more than a year,” down eight points from 2020. Eighteen percent said a year, 16% chose seven to 11 months, 18% said four to six months, and 9% said three months or less, with the figures inching slightly in the direction of a shorter duration compared to the fall survey. Eight percent volunteered that their lives would never return to the way they were before the pandemic, compared to three percent in the fall survey.

While the survey found that a majority of adults supported allowing students in kindergarten through fifth grade to return to classrooms five days a week, views varied significantly by gender, race/ethnicity, and age. Sixty-six percent of men and 54% of women strongly or somewhat supported the idea. Sixty-two percent of white respondents strongly or somewhat supported the policy, and 26% were somewhat or strongly opposed. Non-white respondents, which included African-Americans, individuals identifying as Latino or Hispanic, Asian-Americans, Native Americans, and people identifying with more than one race, were almost evenly divided about the idea. Forty-seven percent were strongly or somewhat supportive, and 50% said they were strongly or somewhat opposed.

Among adults ages 18 to 39, 58 percent supported giving elementary students the chance to return full time, compared to 70 percent among respondents ages 65 and older.

Thirty-four percent of adults and 37% of registered voters in the sample reported having received at least one dose of a COVID-19 vaccine, and the percentage across groups varied by political party, gender, race/ethnicity, and age. Forty-nine percent of Democrats said they had received at least one dose, compared to 22% of Republicans and 30% of unenrolled voters. Thirty-eight percent of women and 29% of men said they had received at least one dose of a vaccine. Thirty-four percent of white respondents and 25% of non-white respondents said the same.

Not surprisingly, given that the state's phased introduction of vaccinations has been based in part on age, respondents 65 and older had the highest rate of vaccination, with 69% indicating they had received at least one dose.

Survey respondents overall gave Baker and the state passing grades for their management of the vaccination program, but only 11% gave Baker an A, and only nine% gave the state an A. Thirty-four percent of adults gave Baker a B, 31% a C, 12% a D, and 6% a failing grade. Thirty-five percent of adults gave the state as a whole a B and 35% awarded a C and 6% a failing grade.

Baker and the state received higher marks from survey respondents who had received at least one dose of a COVID-19 vaccine, and grades were higher as people reported having heard or read more information about the state's vaccination program. Among adults who had received at least one dose of a vaccine, Baker received an A from 12% and a B from 42%, while among those who had not yet been vaccinated 11% gave Baker an A and 29% gave him a B.

Among survey respondents who said they had heard or read a lot of information about the vaccination program, 17% gave Baker an A and 36% gave Baker a B. The governor received an A from only 6% and a B from 31% of respondents who reported reading or hearing little or no information about the program.

Vercellotti noted that while Baker's consistently strong job approval rating has dipped in the latest survey, the results suggest that as people receive the vaccine and as they hear more about the vaccination program, views about Baker seem to become more positive.

"The deterioration in Baker's job approval rating may be temporary," Vercellotti said. "A lot depends on his continued management of the vaccination effort and the state's overall response to COVID."

The Polling Institute found that slightly higher percentages of adults perceived some public activities as safer than respondents had in the fall 2020 survey. Forty-two percent of respondents to the latest survey said, with masks and social distancing, watching a movie in a movie theater would be very or somewhat safe. Only 31% voiced a similar view in the fall survey.

Views also improved somewhat regarding attending a service in a church, synagogue, mosque or other place of worship with masks and social distancing. Forty-six percent viewed the activity as very or somewhat safe, compared to 39% last fall. Shifts toward perceived greater safety were slightly smaller for three other activities: dining inside a restaurant, working out in a gym or health club, and traveling on an airplane. Across all five activities, however, about half of respondents still viewed them as very or somewhat unsafe.

"Perception of risk for these activities has softened somewhat since our last survey, but a lot of people still view these as potentially dangerous undertakings," Vercellotti said.

Having received at least one dose of a vaccine did not appear to be related to viewing the public activities as less risky compared to those who had not received a vaccine. In fact, survey respondents who had not been vaccinated were in some cases more likely to view the activities as safe. For example, 45% of vaccinated respondents viewed dining in a restaurant as very or somewhat safe, compared to 55% of adults who had not yet been vaccinated.

Vercellotti said political partisanship, gender, and age might be contributing to the differences as well. Democrats, women, and older adults were more likely to report having been vaccinated than Republicans, men, and younger adults, and Democrats, women, and older adults were also often less likely to view public activities as safe.

"At least at this early stage in the vaccination process, having a vaccine may not determine your assessment of risk of an activity," Vercellotti said. "Other characteristics, including partisanship, gender, and age, may be more strongly associated with perceived safety of public activities."

Methodology

The Western New England University Polling Institute conducted a telephone survey using live interviewers March 1-31. Western New England University sponsored and funded the study. The survey sample consists of telephone interviews in English only with 415 adults ages 18 and older drawn from across Massachusetts using random-digit-dialing of landlines and cell phones. The sample yielded 377 adults who said they are registered to vote in Massachusetts. Interviewers at the Polling Institute dialed household telephone numbers, known as "landline numbers," and cell phone numbers using random samples obtained from Dynamo of Shelton, CT.

In order to draw a representative sample from the landline numbers, interviewers alternated asking for the youngest adult male or the youngest adult female age 18 or older who was home at the time of the call. Interviewers dialing cell phone numbers interviewed the respondent who answered the cell phone after confirming three things: (1) that the respondent was in a safe setting to complete the survey; (2) that the respondent was an adult age 18 or older; and (3) that the respondent was a resident of Massachusetts. The sample of all adults consisted of 138 interviews completed on landlines, 266 interviews completed on cell phones, and an additional 11 questionnaires completed by cell phone respondents who opted to take the survey online instead of over the phone.

The landline, cell phone, and online data were combined and weighted to reflect the adult population of Massachusetts by gender, race, age, education, and county of residence using U.S. Census estimates for Massachusetts. The data also were weighted to adjust for cell phone and landline usage based on state-level estimates for Massachusetts from the National Center for Health Statistics, and political party registration using statewide voter registration figures from the Massachusetts Secretary of the Commonwealth.

All surveys are subject to sampling error, which is the expected probable difference between interviewing everyone in a population versus a scientific sampling drawn from that population. The margin of sampling error for a sample of 415 adults is +/- 4.7% at a 95% confidence interval. Taking into account a design effect of 1.9 for the weighting of the sample to estimates for the adult population of Massachusetts, the full margin of sampling error is +/- 6.4 percent (the margin of sampling error of 4.7% multiplied by the square root of the design effect), rounded down to 6% for purposes of this report. Thus, if 62% of adults said they approve of the job that Charlie Baker is doing as governor, one would be 95% sure that the true figure would be between 56% and 68% (62% +/- 6%) had all adults in Massachusetts been interviewed, rather than just a sample.

Sampling error increases as the sample size decreases, so statements based on various population subgroups are subject to more error than are statements based on the total sample. Sampling error does not take into account other sources of variation inherent in public opinion studies, such as non-response, question wording, or context effects.

Palmer seniors a ‘good group of football players’

By Tim Peterson
Sports Correspondent

PALMER — While most of the high school rivalry football games in Western Massachusetts take place on Thanksgiving morning, it has never been the case with either Ware or Palmer.

The two high schools, which are located about 10 miles apart, have battled each other on the gridiron during the regular season since 1925.

The 95th annually meeting was scheduled to take place under the lights at Ware High School on Friday night. Unfortunately, the contest has been postponed. A member of the Palmer football program tested positive for COVID-19.

The Panthers, who also had two other games postponed due to COVID-19 issues, posted a 32-0 shutout in their season opener at Chicopee High School on March 20. “We’ve been practicing and not playing a game at the end of the week has been a little bit frustrating,” said Palmer varsity football coach Matt Marciniac, during a zoom interview held prior to the positive COVID test result. “We’re just hoping the number of COVID cases in Palmer keep going down each week, so we’re able to get back on the field again.”

Marciniac, who graduated from Palmer High School in 2005, replaced Peter Farr as the Panthers varsity football coach a couple of years ago. He’s also the Athletic Director and a teacher at the high school.

Marciniac enjoys teaching his players about the history of the rivalry series with Ware.

“The players, who have played in the past games, already know a little about it,” he said. “I do try to teach the younger players about the history of the rivalry game every year. The players on both teams know each other, which makes the rivalry game extra special. It’s always a fun week preparing to play Ware.”

The Indians, who hold a slim 46-43-5 overall lead in the series, have won seven of the past eight games, including the last four years. The final score of last year’s contest, which took place at Legion Field in Palmer, was 34-28.

“Ware has been a very good football team during the past couple of years and they’re a well-coached team,” Marciniac said. “It’s always a challenge whenever we play them.”

The only time that the Panthers have received the Rotary Club Trophy, which goes to the winning team, during the past eight years was following a 14-6 victory at Legion Field in 2015.

Almost every game between the two football teams have been played on a Saturday afternoon during the fall. This year’s game would’ve been played on a Friday night for the first time in more than twenty years.

“I know a lot of traditionalists always wants the game to be played on a Saturday afternoon,” Marciniac said. “I think playing the game on a Friday night this year would be something normal, especially after the past year.”

The five seniors listed on the Palmer football roster are Mike Malcovsky, Aidan Connon, Markys Lissaint, Hermينو Medina, and Jacob Mastalerz.

“The seniors are a very good group of football players,” Marciniac said. “One of my colleagues recently asked me if Jacob could stay after school for a A.P. study session. I said sure, but my team will look very different at practice without having him there. He’s one of our team leaders this year.”

All of the Panthers seniors are team captains.

Jack Letendre, who’s a junior, is the Panthers second-year starting quarterback.

“Jack always tries his best in everything that he does,” Marciniac said. “He’s always prepares for every game and knows where everyone should be on the field.”

In the season opening victory against the Pacers, Letendre completed five passes for a total of 52 yards. He threw a TD pass and scored a rushing touchdown.

The other juniors listed on the varsity football roster are Brady Goguen, Chance Lee, Ethan Tremblay, Mike Ziemba, Robert Burke, Roman Cardenales, Anthony Ukrainets, Logan Fontaine, and Jaden Nava.

“The juniors are good kids and they really enjoy playing football,” Marciniac said. “We’re looking forward to coaching them for one more season.”

Ukrainets, who’s a receiver, caught a TD pass against Chicopee. He also recovered a fumble and had an interception.

Jaden Nava’s younger brother, Xavier, who’s a sophomore, rushed for 80 yards in the first game of the Fall II season.

Sebastian Nava is a freshman.

“The Nava brothers are home school students and they lived in Texas for a long time. They’re first-year members of our football team,” Marciniac said. “Xavier is a totally different running back than we’ve had here at Palmer High School in a very long time. He’ll run over whoever is standing in his way.”

The Panthers assistant coaches, who are all graduates of Palmer High School, are Dylan Kirkland, Ryan Dougherty, Jacob Graveline, and Ryan Moore.

Ware riding run of recent success

WARE – From the start of the 2017 regular season until last Saturday afternoon, the Ware football team has posted an impressive 29-7 overall record. The Indians have qualified for the Western Mass. Division 8 playoffs in each of the past three seasons. They advanced to the finals in 2017 and 2019.

The five seniors, who have been members of the Indians varsity football team during the past 36 games, are Jack Tweedie, Keith Smith, Shawn Santiago, Myles McGrail, and Dillon Slattery.

“Those five guys joined our football team as kids and they’re leaving as young men,” said Ware head coach Mike Fazio. “It has been a pleasure for me and the other coaches to watch them grow during the past few years.”

Tweedie, Smith, McGrail, and Slattery are the Indians captains this season. The four-some were also captains of last year’s squad, which finished with a 9-2.

Smith, who became a member of the elite 1,000-point club in his final high school basketball game, suffered a right thumb injury in the season opening football game against Belchertown. He’ll be sidelined for the rest of the football season.

The other six seniors listed on this year’s Indians roster are Dominic Velazquez, Aiden

State tournament added for spring sports

By Gregory A. Scibelli
gscibelli@turley.com

REGION — This fall, a statewide tournament will take the place of the Western Massachusetts tournaments schools in the region have been used to for many years.

This school year was supposed to be the final year of the sectional tournaments held that are sponsored by the Massachusetts Interscholastic Athletic Association. However, two of those tournaments, the fall and winter, were cancelled due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

It also cancelled what existed for a state tournament, which consisted of sectional champion versus sectional champion. The four sectional champions would meet in semifinals and then finals.

While the MIAA was looking to hold a spring tournament, it was only going to occur at the sectional level. Now, the Board of Directors have approved the two-game state tournaments for the spring season, which will begin on Monday, April 26. There will be a short preseason and games will begin in early May.

The spring season is set to include baseball, softball, lacrosse, tennis, outdoor track, and boys volleyball. It is also supposed to include wrestling, a winter sport that was deemed to high to happen during the winter while there was a second major spike in COVID-19 cases.

The MIAA Tournament Management Committee met on Thursday, March 25 to discuss the spring tournaments.

The key to tournaments will take place on June 2. That is the deadline for teams to opt in or out of the tournament. Schools will have the ability to decide, for the safety of their students, whether or not they will participate in a spring tournament. The opt-in or out is for schools that may be in high-risk areas and do not want to risk facing teams they may not normally see.

Since the pandemic, schools in Western and Central Massachusetts have been placed in geographically-centered pods to limit travel and exposure.

The spring tournament is set to start on June 16 and 17 with a June 15 cut-off date for regular season games. A short spring season is not unusual to teams as the first two weeks of spring often are filled with weather issues, and rain can sometimes cancel many baseball and softball games.

There will be no neutral sites for the tournament, and the higher seed will be the home team through the tournament. However, it is not known if neutral sites will be used in the two-game state tournament.

The Big Outlaw Open starts this weekend with the Thompson Icebreaker 125.

Thompson Icebreaker 125 just the start of Big Outlaw Open season

WATERBURY, Vt. — Connecticut's Thompson Speedway Motorsports Park is just over a week away from the annual Icebreaker. The 82nd season opener on Saturday, April 10 and Sunday, April 11 is headlined by the Icebreaker 125 for the new Outlaw Open Modified Series, pitting the region's Tour-type Modified stars in a $10,000-to-win showdown.

Noted open-wheel racers such as Doug Coby, Craig Lutz, Bobby Santos III, Jon McKennedy, and Matt Swanson are officially committed to the Icebreaker 125. The Sunday shootout is just the beginning, though. Six Outlaw Open Series events are planned for the 2021 season with big purses and even bigger action.

It culminates with the return of the Thompson 300. The $20,000-to-win event is part of the World Series of Speedway Racing on October 8-10. It's been 16 years since the late Ted Christopher won the last Thompson 300 in 2005. Not only is the Icebreaker 125 important in its own right, but it also starts preparations for an event that is hallowed in Modified lore.

"The Icebreaker is always the big opener in New England to get back going and get started racing again, so I'm definitely looking forward to that," two-time Modified Racing Series champion Chris Pasteryak said. "As for the season in general, the way I look at it is that the Thompson 300 is the biggest Modified race of the year. So the more laps we get at Thompson over the course of the year leading up to the 300, hopefully the better we can run in it."

In-between the Icebreaker 125 and the Thompson 300 are four $5,000-to-win Wednesday night shows on June 16, July 7, August 11, and September 15. The Wednesday dates make it easy for teams to tackle the Thompson high banks without weekly or touring series conflicts.

In the meantime, all eyes are on the Icebreaker showdown. The event is 125 green-flag laps with teams allowed to use eight tires. Racers have to be fast and use the right strategy to stand in Victory Lane.

"I love it," Oakdale, CT's Zachem said of the 125-lap distance. "It's a pit-stop race, so more or less, you are racing to halfway to figure out your pit stop situation. I'm looking forward to it. We've always run well over at Thompson."

It's definitely going to make a difference," Moosup, CT's Pasteryak added. "When you're counting caution laps and you get to 50 or 60 laps to go, you normally only count on getting about 35 of them under green. Whereas now when you get to 50 or 60 to go, there's still potentially a pretty long race left. And then you know that, if you have some tires left in the pit stall, or you want to try a strategy where you hold off and pit a little bit later, you know you're going to have that many laps to actually try and race your way back to the front and not just ride around behind the pace car to finish the day."

A total of 29 drivers have pre-entered the event, including Keith Rocco, Mike Christopher Jr., Eric Goodale, Andrew Krause, Patrick Emerling, and Jeff Gallup. The current entry list alone accounts for dozens of championships and hundreds of race wins. Several other teams have indicated they'll be there, setting up a stacked field with many potential winners.

The Outlaw Open Modified Series is the brainchild of PASS's Tom Mayberry and ACT's Cris Michaud, who are co-promoting the Thompson Speedway oval track events this season. The duo put on two events at Thompson in 2020 and have banded together to carry on the track's storied tradition.

Thompson Speedway opened in 1940 and was long known as the "Indianapolis of the East", attracting every notable name in motorsports. Even today, the track is revered among the racing community. Drivers such as Ryan Preece, Harrison Burton, Bobby Santos III, and Derek Griffith have used Thompson victories as a springboard to national opportunities.

"What Cris Michaud and Tom Mayberry have done for Thompson is huge," Zachem said. "Taking the chance last year to run the track, with everything going on with COVID...I started at the Little T Speedway in 2000 and everyone's dream is to run the big track one day and I made it there. It's really cool to see the track still going."

Thompson Speedway opens its 82nd season with the annual Icebreaker on Saturday, April 10 and Sunday, April 11. Ten local and regional series go green at the two-day racing festival. Sunday's card features the $10,000-to-win Icebreaker 125 for the Outlaw Open Modified Series. There's also a 40-lap ACT-type Late Model shootout plus the Limited Sportsman and SK Light Modifieds. Post time is 1:15pm.

Saturday's six-division card is highlighted by the Thompson 75 for the PASS North Super Late Models beginning at 1:00pm. They're joined by the Sunoco Modifieds, NEMA LITES Midgits, EXIT Realty Pro Truck Challenge, Mini Stocks, and an 8-Cylinder Street Stock Open. An optional Test N' Tune practice day is slated for Friday, April 9 for all Icebreaker divisions.

Adult general admission is $30 for Saturday and $35 for Sunday. Kids ages 12 and under are $10 each day. Advance tickets are available at <https://happsnw.com/event/Thompson-Speedway-Motorsports-Park-YHPQ>. Grandstand attendance is limited to 50% of capacity per Connecticut COVID-19 guidelines. Pit passes will be sold at the track.

All NE-10 colleges to make playoffs

COLCHESTER, Vt. - The Northeast-10 Conference unveiled its postseason plan for the spring semester on Thursday, announcing all baseball, men's and women's lacrosse, softball and men's and women's tennis programs will automatically qualify for league tournaments while also revealing the date and location of the men's golf championship. Saint Michael's College sponsors all seven of these sports, with each program having begun competition already this spring.

Similar to the adjustments made to spring schedules as part of the conference's return-to-play plan, the NE10 has altered postseason competition formats in an effort to reduce travel and allow for regular COVID-19 surveillance testing. The allowance of full-field postseason formats factors in the reality of teams not being able to complete their full regular-season schedules due to COVID-19 protocol and therefore allows each team the opportunity to compete for a league championship.

Key changes to the normal postseason format includes a one-day, 36-hole men's golf championship on April 20 at Springfield Country Club in West Springfield, Mass. For baseball, women's lacrosse and softball, whose regular seasons are being played within divisions, the postseason format retains a divisional format until the final championship event or series. Both divisions have their own seven-team bracket to determine which two schools will play for that NE10 championship, as the top seed from each draws a first-round bye while the second through fourth seeds host opening-round contests. The women's lacrosse tournament begins on April 30, softball on May 4 and baseball on May 11. Divisional finals for baseball and softball are best-of-three series before the Northeast and Southwest division winners meet in another best-of-three set.

The seven-team men's tennis championship begins on April 24, when the No. 1 seed receives a bye while the second-through fourth-seeded squads host opening-round matches. Women's tennis and men's lacrosse, which start on April 25 and 28, respectively, will feature 11-team brackets, with the top five squads in each receiving first-round byes. The sixth, seventh and eighth seeds host opening-round contests.

All brackets or schedules are subject to change based on the established institutional and conference health protocol. The health and safety of student-athletes, coaches and campus communities remains the primary focus for the league. Conference winning percentage will determine championship seeding for team sports, with higher seeds serving as the host institutions throughout the tournaments. All game and match times are to be determined.

Now, the Board of Directors have approved the two-game state tournaments for the spring season, which will begin on Monday, April 26. There will be a short preseason and games will begin in early May.

"We are a young team and even though we only have 13 players on the team they come everyday, put in the work to get better, and have a lot to prove," Talbot said. "Northampton was a tough team to start the season off with but we got some good looks and some things we can work on throughout the season to take with the younger guys next year and to build the team's chemistry and numbers in the future."

Baldyga said he cannot wait for parents to be allowed to return to the games and watch their kids play and for other fans to be able to show their support in person.

Factors to consider before choosing a summer camp

Adults often look back fondly on their childhood experiences at summer camp. Camps can provide the opportunity to form lifelong friendships and discover rewarding hobbies that can enrich campers' lives for decades to come.

Choosing a summer camp is no small task, as the options at families' disposal range from overnight camps to weekday afternoon camps to camps that specialize in certain programs, such as music or dance. Cost also is likely to factor into families' decisions, as the American Camp Association notes that cost can vary greatly depending on which camp families choose. For example, the ACA notes that the average daily fee at a resident camp is $85, while the same fee at a day camp is $43.

When looking for a summer camp for kids, families should make the decision together. Kids should be involved in the selection process, as they're more likely to have an enjoyable camp experience if they had a say in where they will be spending their summers. The following are some factors families should consider as they look for summer camps, courtesy of the ACA.

Kids' interests

The ACA urges parents to consider the child's interests and personality before choosing a summer camp. Parents might want their children to attend the same summer camp they visited as youngsters, but each child is different. Just because mom and dad liked a particular camp does not mean their children will. The ACA notes that summer camps should align with children's interests and maturity level.

Locale

Locale may only be a consideration for families considering overnight camps. Kids will likely be familiar with the locations of local day camps, but overnight camps might be set in mountain ranges, near the ocean or environments less familiar to youngsters. Kids who love the ocean might benefit from oceanfront camps that focus on marine biology, boating or other activities involving the water. In the same vein, youngsters who like camping and hiking might be more likely to embrace camps located in mountainous regions.

Session length

Camps may last as little as one week or up to a couple of months. Session length should be considered by families looking at both local day camps and overnight resident camps. Parents who want their children to enjoy a largely schedule-free summer might not want to commit their children to lengthy camp sessions, even if those sessions are close to home. If parents think their children can benefit from the same structure they're accustomed to during the school year, then an overnight camp that stretches for several weeks might be what they're looking for.

Summer camps give kids a chance to make memories that will last a lifetime. Choosing the right camp is an important decision that parents and kids should make together.

Stoneleigh-Burnham School Offers In-Person Day & Residential Summer Camps

GREENFIELD, MA. Stoneleigh-Burnham School (SBS), an independent day and boarding school in Greenfield, Massachusetts, is pleased to announce in-person day and residential summer camps for equestrians, performing artists, debaters and public speakers ages 7-18. SBS's signature summer programs are hosted by expert faculty on their beautiful 100-acre campus in Greenfield. The programs emphasize the development of confidence, the acquisition of skills, and the discovery of new talents.

SBS's Summer Camps begin June 20, 2021 and include Speak Up I, an introduction to debate & public speaking for girls ages 10-13; Speak Up II, an advanced program for girls ages 13-18 with experience in debate & public speaking; Performing Arts Camp, a coed program for students ages 10-18 with an interest in dancing, singing and acting; the premier Bonnie Castle Riding Camp, a riding program for girls ages 8-16 for all skill levels; and a new Horsemanship Day Camp for boys and girls ages 7-12.

Parents and guardians will be able to choose between three choices of camp structure: a day camp schedule from 8am-4pm that includes lunch, an extended day camp schedule from 8am-8pm that includes lunch and dinner, or the weekly residential camp option. There are discounts available for returning families, families who register more than one child, or those who sign up for multiple weeks. Financial assistance for day campers may also be available to those who qualify.

SBS Summer Program Director Heidi Gebo has been directing youth camps throughout Massachusetts' Pioneer Valley for 20 years. "It's important for us to be able to offer a diverse array of camp options for students and give families multiple options to help accommodate their work schedules," said Heidi.

To learn more or to register, please visit sbschool.org/summer or email summerprograms@sbschool.org.

Stoneleigh-Burnham School has (SBS) been preparing girls grades 7-12 & PG for college and the world. SBS is an academic community with an international perspective that inspires girls to pursue meaningful lives based on honor, respect, and intellectual curiosity. Each student is challenged to discover her best self and graduate with the confidence to think independently and act ethically, secure in the knowledge that her voice will be heard.

Greene Acres for those horse enthusiasts

BELCHERTOWN – Queue the Green Acres theme song because it is true, Greene Acres is the place to be. From the farm's beauty to the great people, it is an overall fantastic atmosphere and is an exceptional place to go for riding lessons, boarding, and summer camp. The lesson program at Greene Acres accommodates all ages, skill levels, and disciplines, 2 years to 100 years, beginner to advanced, western to english. Horses are taken very well care of by Amanda, the Greene team girls and boarders who are all friendly and don't ever hesitate to help.

The summer camps give kids the opportunity to learn the same things they would learn by taking a lesson but get the chance to do it all week as well as participate in fun activities such as crafts, games, or just exploring the farm. If you or your child are like me and end up sticking around you will find that Greene Acres is more than just a farm and that the people there are more than just friends. I have learned so much by riding at Greene Acres from horse sense to common sense and life skills. But, the greatest takeaway is that the people at Greene Acres are more than just friends or a team to me, they are family. So, if you are thinking about trying horseback riding for you or your child or looking for a new barn, Greene Acres is the place to go.

O B I T U A R I E S

Robert "Rob" Stevenson, 57

"What is a pirate's favorite kind of pizza?"
"Pep-ARR-roni!"

All that knew Rob, were aware of his humor. He always had a Dad joke on hand.

Rob Stevenson passed away suddenly on March 6, 2021, while vacationing and visiting family in Florida. Over the last few months, he had a brief fight with brain cancer.

On April 29, 1963, Rob was born to Marcia (Russell) Wolfson and Douglas Stevenson. He was one of six children: Douglas, Jodi, Melissa, Michael, and Tami. Rob also had a stepfather and stepmother, Steven and Kathleen Wolfson, who were a special part of his life.

Rob was lovingly married to his wife, Laurie (White) Stevenson, for 26 years. They had three wonderful children – Victoria, Elizabeth, and Alexander. Rob also had a son, Rob Jr., from a previous marriage. He also leaves behind many additional family and friends, as well as his beloved dog, Terrance.

Although he marched to the beat of a different drummer, Rob had many interests. He loved the beach and sunshine at any time of the year. Rob appreciated cars and could often be found hand washing his vehicles on his days off. He had a great admiration with anything related to the 80s and "Miami Vice." Rob was also an avid watch collector and would share that with some of his close friends. In his car, in the yard, or on his phone, you would frequently find him listening to classic rock music.

Most impressively, Rob's family was very important to him. Just ask any of his children about mandatory Family Sundays (insert eye roll here)! He greatly enjoyed traveling with his wife, especially to the Caribbean, Oktoberfest in Munich, and roadtripping from Italy through Austria, Switzerland, and Germany.

Rob also enjoyed spending time with family and friends by his pool. He spent many hours working toward creating a backyard oasis for his time off from work.

As much as he liked to enjoy himself, he was a very hard working provider for his family. Rob worked for over 20 years at Aaron's Sales and Leasing. He earned many accolades and reward trips as a result of his top performance. Rob set a standard for excellence with his strong work ethic and was a mentor to many in the industry.

Rob asked not to have traditional funeral services. He asked for a celebration of his life. This will take place in the form of a private memorial car show at the discretion of his family.

The family asks that any donations made in memory of Rob go to the Dana Farber Cancer Institute of Boston.

Rob will be greatly missed as a loving husband, father, son, brother, uncle, friend, mentor, and leader.

Federal money infused into Mass. programs preventing evictions

The Baker-Polito Administration last week announced more than $400 million in new federal funding from the Consolidated Appropriations Act is now available through the Administration’s Eviction Diversion Initiative.

Launched last October, EDI consists of a comprehensive set of resources that serves individuals, families and landlords in crisis with financial aid, free and low-cost legal aid and community mediation to keep people in their homes. The state has distributed approximately $80 million in rental assistance to more than 18,000 households since the beginning of the State of Emergency (data available on the public dashboard at mass.gov).

According to the administration, helped mitigate an anticipated eviction crisis across the Commonwealth.

Information tracked by the Massachusetts Trial Court shows a total of 626 executions issued in residential eviction cases from Oct. 18, 2020, through March 28, 2021, for cases filed after the state moratorium. This represents a reduction of nearly 85% – 3,807 eviction executions – compared to the year prior.

The infusion of more than $400 million in federal resources, which is expected to be supplemented by hundreds of millions in additional dollars through the American Rescue Plan Act, allows the Commonwealth to provide longer-term relief to low-income renters and landlords in crisis, while implementing system efficiencies and processes for the future, the administration says. The additional funding, and the flexibility created by federal regulations, enables the Commonwealth to expand aid to more households, provide deeper and longer-term assistance to households, and help households with utility payments, according to Baker’s office.

The Department of Housing and Community Development has been investing heavily in and working closely with regional administering agencies and the Rental Assistance Processing Center to incorporate the new Federal Emergency Rental Assistance Program funding into existing delivery service models for the Residential Assistance for Families in Transition and Emergency Rental and Mortgage Assistance programs.

“The ongoing public health crisis and the economic consequences created by COVID-19 have made the importance of stable, affordable housing a clear and vital component of our strategy to keep households safe and healthy,” Baker said.

“This major infusion of resources enables us to extend and strengthen our Eviction Diversion Initiative, which supports both tenants and landlords in crisis to keep more families safely housed. With more than $400 million available, we are pleased this funding will enable us to respond to the immense need for support right now, and make long-term investments in our homelessness prevention programs.”

Funding Highlights include:

Income eligibility: Households making up to 80% of Area Median Income (AMI) will be eligible for funding (RAFT has an eligibility threshold of 50% of AMI).

Longer-term assistance: Households may be eligible for up to 12 months of rental arrears (plus an extra three months of stipends for future rent if funding allows and need is demonstrated), as well as overdue utilities arrears up to $1,500. All rent and utility arrears must have been accrued after 3/13/20. Currently, RAFT and ERMA can provide up to $10,000 per household for rental arrearages or stipends.

It also prioritizes funds for those most at risk, including those making less than 50% AMI and those unemployed for 90 days or more. In addition, DHCD, in partnership with MassHousing and the Massachusetts Housing Partnership, will launch a new program to allow qualified owners of income-restricted units, as well as Local Housing Authorities, to apply for help directly on behalf of all of their income-eligible residents with past-due rent. The Subsidized Housing Emergency Rental Assistance program will expedite relief for possibly tens of thousands of eligible tenants in need, while also allowing administering agencies to concentrate on applications from non-subsidized tenants in need of assistance.

Federal resources will also be made available to families who are eligible for Emergency Assistance Shelter, by coupling ERAP rental assistance benefits with the existing HomeBASE benefit and housing services. This will help those who owe arrears and are at risk of becoming unhoused, and also those who are exiting EA shelter and transitioning into permanent housing. The Administration is also pursuing two pilot initiatives: the first will allow municipalities to provide targeted outreach and hands-on ERAP application support to communities with demonstrated need and hard-to-reach populations, and the second provides targeted outreach strategies to small landlords about the availability of ERAP and other state financial assistance programs.

“Thanks to the hard work of DHCD and so many partners, we’ve transformed how we support families facing an eviction or a housing crisis during the pandemic,” Housing and Economic Development Secretary Mike Kennealy said.

“We’ve increased our dollar commitment, and introduced new, comprehensive services like free and low-cost legal aid and community mediation between tenants and landlords to help keep people housed. As we enter a critical stage of our economic recovery, it is absolutely vital to ensure families have access to safe, stable housing.”

Through another partnership, legal assistance is available for those who can’t afford an attorney. For more information, go to mass.gov or contact your state representative.

Three Rivers resident joins Skoler, Abbott & Presser

SPRINGFIELD – Skoler, Abbott & Presser, P.C., a leading labor and employment law firm serving employers in the greater Springfield area, recently welcomed Attorney Jeremy Forgue and two paralegals, Jonathan Applefield, and Tracy Belanger, to its team.

Attorney John Gannon, a partner at Skoler Abbott, said, “It’s an exciting time of growth for us and we are fortunate to find such exceptional talent to add to our team. Our recent hires bring a depth of experience to our firm and our clients. Employment and labor laws are ever-changing, and the pace has increased over the past year. Jeremy, Jonathan and Tracy will allow us to keep our clients abreast and compliant with the latest regulations and look after their best interests.”

While she lived in California for nearly two decades, Belanger, a paralegal, is a Western Mass. native now living in Three Rivers. She earned her associate degree in administration of justice and a certificate of achievement with an emphasis on the law and public policy at Pasadena City College in California, where she was a member of the honor society, Alpha Gamma Sigma.

She then pursued her B.A. in criminology, law and society from the School of Social Ecology at the University of California, Irvine, followed by completion of an ABA accredited paralegal studies program and an externship at the United States Bankruptcy Court.

A Springfield native, Attorney Forgue received his law degree from Western New England University School of Law where he was drawn to business and employment law and was the managing editor of the university’s Law Review. Prior to joining Skoler Abbott, he was a law clerk for the Massachusetts Housing Court. He enjoys preparing employers for new and changing laws to prevent compliance issues, such as reviewing existing policies for vulnerabilities and assisting in open forum discussions.

As a paralegal, Applefield, a resident of Northampton, provides broad administrative support to the attorneys and their clients. Before joining the firm, he worked for 16 years as a legal assistant in Manhattan, a job he held while earning an M.A. and M.Phil. in art history at Columbia University. He earned his B.A. from Bowdoin College in Maine.
